Goals, setting the patterns of travel for an individual to follow, coming closer with each success; limits determined by his ambition and objectives attained by the same means. Goals revised to benefit personal talents, redrawn to accomodate new courses of intent and redesignated to overcome obstructing barriers. A lifetime to build on these present ideals and future expectations, and it all began here.

East Central's 1971 school year started with the combined efforts of the newly-elected senior class officers: President, Paula Hammer; Vice-Pres., Jim Johnson; Secretary-treasurer, Janet LeMoine, and Mr. O. D. Bell in his ninth year of sponsoring the senior class. The homerooms with at least 18 seniors elected a homeroom representative for the senior board. The senior board is the "voice" of the senior class. They decide on major issues that pertain to the senior class. They began the year with the successful new drama, "On Borrowed Time". Other activities included purchasing senior class pins and choosing the place and entertainment for the senior prom, the climax event of the year, which will be held at the Mayo.

Members of the Senior class earned many off-campus honors this year. Cindy Dipboye was named the Good Citizen by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Linda Flynn won the honor of queen for the Roundup and Rodeo Club at the Tulsa State Fair. East Central had two National Merit Semifinalists this year, Susan Cross and Mike Ransom. Phyllis Shaul was elected 4-H president for Tulsa County and Joy Merkle was selected as a member of the Tulsa String Quartet. These are only a few of the many honors that are sure to follow the senior class.

Graduation: the Highlight of Our Senior Year

Flowing gowns and flashbulbs mark the solemn, often poignant occasion when East Central seniors assemble for the last time at graduation ceremonies. Above, Mrs. Earl Pregler speaks for Cardinal parents as she captures the passing moments of Mike's high school career. Old friends and old times are reviewed, seniors fearful that these memories may be lost, yet shivering a little with anticipation of walking into the future on their own. Commencement exercises, held annually at Tulsa's Civic Center, and Vespers Services culminate Senior Week during the last week in May.

Firmly established in high school not facing the nostalgia of graduation yet, juniors are at the peak to be themselves flunk a test ace the next one. Anxieties begin to build, suppressed rivalries are in the making as juniors come closer to assuming senior positions next year: presidency of Student Council, editorship of Cardinal Quill and the year book, senior class president, all the academic honors that lead to college scholarships and personal recognition.

The honor of being chosen Mr. Bird Legs is one that is fought for among East Central boys. The announcement of the second annual Bird Legs winner, Shane Brookshire, a junior, brought cheers from his fellow classmates. On the same day that Miss East Central V was presented with her crown, Shane was presented with his mannequin leg which accompanied his title of Mr. Bird Legs II. Les Diven was voted first runner up. If at any time Mr. Bird Legs is unable to fulfill his duties, Les would take over. Roger Walker is the second runner up. The winners won their titles because of their ugly legs. Votes were cast in pennies and 2,856 were collected, making an all time high.

Mr Leefer

Leading the sophomores on their way this year's class Cardinals were this year's class. Mr. Roger Leefer, now serving in his sophomore sponsor, initiated his charges with a special forum which introduced sophomores to what is expected at high school. Getting organized is difficult and frustrating, for various classes from feeder junior high schools must merge into one functioning class at East Central. A step toward progress and priorities was taken this year as Mr. Leefer organized a sophomore board. The representatives met twice a month to make decisions on class activities and . . .

Key Word for Sophomores is Activity

Teresa Talton and Bill Boyer explore the speech facilities in the new east wing of the building.

An important word in the Cardinal vocabulary which describes sophomores is "adaptable". Early in this, their first year at East Central, they showed a great deal of spirit and pride in their school. Active on the social scene, sophomores elected Miss Debbie Syver-son as queen attendant for homecoming festivities. Cheerleaders performed at all B-squad activities and gained a great deal of experience cheering in pep as-semblies and at A-squad sports activities. Additional prestige was gained as athletes filled positions this year on the varsity level that have never been filled by sophomores in the past.

Mathematical models are used to describe the behavior of the system. The model is based on the following assumptions:

Figure 1 is a schematic representation of the experimental design. It shows a sequence of three boxes connected by arrows. The first box is labeled 'Stimulus' and contains the word 'cat'. The second box is labeled 'Response' and contains the word 'cat'. The third box is labeled 'Feedback' and contains the word 'cat'. The sequence is labeled 'Stimulus', 'Response', and 'Feedback'.

Dr. Cawelti: The Lifeline of Tulsa Education

What may be considered the main artery of all Tulsa Public Schools is the Tulsa Board of Education.

The board is composed of seven members, one from each of the seven wards of the city. The board is the governing body of the schools and is responsible for the selection of the superintendent of schools. The board also has the power to approve or disapprove the budget of the schools and to make changes in the curriculum. The board meets regularly and is open to the public. The board is the lifeline of the Tulsa Public Schools and is responsible for the future of the city's education.

Mr. J. W. Payne: Lifeforce Behind East Central

Mr. J. W. Payne
Principal

Mr. J. W. Payne, East Central's number one fan and booster, is now serving in his fourteenth year as administrator. A former science teacher, Mr. P. manages to stay equally identified with the school's teacher staff and 75 student body. This year he supervised the school's participation in the North Central Educational Association's study which determines the performance and accreditation of member schools. He works closely with other principals throughout the Tulsa area, making sure East Central maintains its excellent status with the total system. Some of his many duties include instructing students of their responsibilities and proper attitudes, interpreting the school's policies as they apply to East Central, providing supervision and equipment, and maintaining relationships between Cardinal

Two Assistant Principals and Guidance Staff

Mr. George Dorsch
Assistant Principal

Administrative growth was accomplished this year with two assistant principals, Mr. George Dorsch and Mr. Jim Quetone. Mr. Dorsch, long associated as a man who works with such excellence of details, was also designated as principal of East Central's first summer school session last June and July. New to the assistant principalship this year is Mr. Quetone, who formerly served Cardinal students as a counselor. He was graduated from Northeastern State University at Tahlequah with a B.A. degree in Business and a Master's of Teaching Arts. Both men are prepared to serve in the principal's capacity if he is out of town. They also serve in official capacity at East Central functions, work closely with school counselors and visiting counselors, and evaluate all requests, from teachers or students, which may be counter to school policies.

Experts Find Their Lifework in Students

Another major shift in the guidance staff occurred with the addition of four new members. Only Mrs. Opal Lloyd, E.C. girls counselor, and Mrs. Irene Bennett, school nurse, were familiar faces from last year. Mrs. Dixie Loyd, former English teacher, assumed the new library leadership, and Mr. Bill Stephens, former history teacher, moved to his current counseling position. Two new counselors include Mr. Larry Smith with a B.A. in Science and a Master's of Education from Northeastern State at Tahlequah, and Mr. Jerry Zachary, with a B.A. in Physical Education and Master's of Guidance from Northeastern.

Art Often Approximates a Changing Life Style

The school art staff underwent a complete transformation this year with new art teachers. Mrs. Nancy Louvier and Mrs. Janey Harrison. Mrs. Louvier, chairman of the department, received a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree from the University of Tulsa in 1970 marking her first year of teaching at East Central. Mrs. Harrison was graduated from East Central State College with a Bachelor's Degree in Art. She also teaches Physical Education.

Chuck Swartz and Belinda Frost try their hands at local landscapes.

Mrs. Harrison demonstrates some art form and modeling techniques.

Art is considered one of the most popular subjects among Cardinals for two reasons. It is an elective, and students find it relative to their own life style. Favorite projects include drawing, line and form, astrology posters, paper mache heads, and pop and op art. One of the hardest things for a beginning student to do is to let go his own feelings, for he is free to follow his own interests within the framework of the art curriculum. Advanced students develop creativity to its highest degree, many compete in local art shows.

Headed by Mrs. Lucy Spear, the Homemaking Department expanded to four full time teachers this year. Mrs. Spear teaches a wide range of Clothing I, II and III. Mrs. Shirley Dalton teaches four classes of Foods I and a class of Foods II. She is also a co-sponsor of Future Homemakers of America, an organization which is closely related to good cookery. Mrs. JoAnn Burnley, also co-sponsor of F.H.A., teaches three classes of Foods I, Foods II and the highly advanced Foods II and III class. Mrs. Camille Wean assumed full time home economics assignment this year. She teaches two classes of Clothing I, two classes of Home Living, Family Economics, and one class of House and Home Management, related to smooth home operations.

Mmm mmm mmm is a familiar sound when a pleasant aroma from our home economics department winds through the halls of East Central. But the preparation of food is only a small portion of the home economics program. Students learn how to manage money and the importance of wise shopping. This includes studying the characteristics of quality meat, the buying of ready-made clothes, and the importance of budgeting an income skillfully. Another aspect of the program is home planning. Future homemakers make floor plans and determine a decorating scheme. Sewing provides still another side of the curriculum. Girls are taught the necessary techniques along with fashion about styles and fabrics. These programs offer rounded background in the skills needed for home

Seven teachers meet demands of East Central's Business Education department, under the supervision of Mrs. Ernestine Pierce, chairman. New to the department this year is Mrs. Valdene Sands, Basic Business and Bookkeeping teacher, who formerly taught at Central High School. She received a B.S. Degree in Education from Southeastern State in Durant, and a Master of Business Education from the University of Oklahoma. The faculty covers a wide array of business subjects in typewriting, notehand, shorthand, transcription, adding machines, basic business, business law, business math and records, and general office education. All classes lead to future jobs.

Toward A Lifetime Career

The next generation of office workers is forming, as students learn to type in conjunction with taped lessons.

East Central students are offered a variety of classes. Most students are familiar with typing, shorthand, and transcription, but not all realize that basic business offers a study of insurance policies, contracts, leases, savings, investments and interest rates. Business Law studies problems and cases related to everyday living. Business Math and Records explores banking procedures, income tax forms and trade and cash discounts. Office Machines includes the study of adding machines, calculating, bank posting, and bookkeeping machines. Bookkeeping helps understand social security and pension plans, while General Office Education covers concerns from office skills to office etiquette—an aid for future success.

The largest department now at East Central is the English staff with 13 teachers, whose activities are coordinated by Mrs. Jewell Hilderbrand, chairman. New additions this year include Mrs. Myrna Campbell, B.S. in Education, Oklahoma State University, Miss Susan Clabaugh, B.A. in English, Oklahoma State University, and Mrs. Jackie O Bar, B.S. in English, University of Tulsa. The staff covers variant phases of literature in American, English, and World areas, offers an independent study laboratory, provides specialized reading courses, and the highly skilled P's 'Quest' groups, under Mrs. Hilderbrand.

Depends on Mastery of English

"To be, or not to be, that is the question." And if students question why they study English, like the famous Hamlet quote above, the answer is four important reasons: the arts of reading, writing, listening, and speaking well. Mastery of these skills enables us to communicate in this madcap world of now. Some various ways to accomplish this are: the study of great literature, vocabulary work, grammar and composition, note taking, and discussions. Students enjoy learning through films, records, tapes, and other audio-visual media. Contemporary poets, playwrights, and their expanding points of view are emphasized whenever possible, although the best of the classics are studied to safeguard them for future generations.

The scenes below are typical of language activities. Miss Stuart begins a classroom discussion while Mrs. Lane's students pore over book reports. Peggy Guin, Debbie Larson, and Joni James are active in World Lit.

With her ready smile Mrs. Jewel Hilderbrand guides the English department in modern methods.

Foreign Languages Draw the Life Patterns

Patti Dyer
Robert Owen

Mary Johnson
Florence Schupbach

Another manifestation of East Central's growth is reflected in the Foreign Language Department which now has five language teachers, headed by Mrs. Florence Schupbach, chairman. New to the department this year in fulltime capacity as a Spanish instructor is Mrs. Patti Dyer, who has also taught English here at East Central. Also new is Miss Mary Johnson with a B.A. in French Education from the University of Oklahoma who teaches five classes of French from beginning to third year. Mr. Robert Owen teaches four classes of German and is also teaching one class of U.S. History. Mrs. Florence Schupbach, now in her tenth year at East Central as teacher and department chairman, offers the study of Spanish through the fourth year. Mrs. Virginia Erbert, whose picture is found in the Music department, also teaches one French class.

Mike Ransom and Mr. Owen discuss the pictorial beauty of Switzerland's famous Matterhorn mountain.

And Customs of Others to Our Understanding

Listening and repeating are the clues to Spanish diction says Mrs. Schupbach

"Uno, dos, tres" are familiar sounds to foreign language students taking Spanish this year. Students of other foreign language classes also learn to count and communicate in languages of their choice. Drills on pronunciation, tapes of foreign voices actually speaking the language and constant practice of repeating or mimicking their teachers are helpful devices which help the student become more fluent in speaking the language. East Central foreign language students enjoy seeing films which help the student to become better acquainted with the language and the people he is studying. Advanced language classes read plays, study novels, and write compositions all in the language itself. All students enjoy singing and playing games in the language because it helps bring it closer to the student who feels a need for familiarity.

Under the direction of Mrs. Norma Davis, Speech students learn the techniques of public speaking and self-expression which are important to communication in today's fast moving world. Extremely active in her field, Mrs. Davis teaches Speech I, II, and III, serves as East Central's assembly coordinator, directs school plays, and sponsors the E.C. Thespian troupe. Students study diction, the fundamentals of acting and staging, and learn to write and present speeches.

Learning Plus Lifesavers Add Up To

The goals of the Industrial and Vocational Educational Department are to provide students with both the opportunity to explore various vocational fields and the industrial equipment to test their interests with. Headed by Mr. Don Randolph, chairman and drafting instructor the staff also includes Mrs. Margaret Byrd, Distributive Education, Mr. John Dial, Power Mechanics, Mr. Jimmie Johns, Woodwork, and Mr. Duane Selvey, Machine Shop and Aviation Instructor. Mr. Weldon Childress teaches six classes of Driver Education. Instructors stress safety as well as competence when the students work with the highly technical equipment which the department possesses.

A five member mathematics staff, headed by Mr. Ed McCray, chairman, offers a wide range of general and specialized mathematics classes, from Basic Math to Trigonometry. The faculty members include Mr. Rod Bridges, Mrs. Lavenia Daniels, Mr. Lawrence Peck, Mr. Luther Younger, and Mr. McCray. "d=rt, a^2+b^2 wow!" These and other equations prove to be helpful in everyday mathematics classes. Students enjoy working with unknown elements, and mathematics offers East Central students a challenge as infinite as the universe itself. Courses from Basic Math to Math Analysis provide interest on levels that are desirable in today's technological society. Being college preparatory and by the cumulative nature of the course mathematics involves a certain amount of time required for daily study. The development of self discipline is acquired and self satisfaction is inevitable.

With the exception of one or two, Mr. McCray's students take their math problems seriously.

Another major department at East Central is the eleven member Social Studies staff, headed by Mr. O. D. Bell, chairman. New members this year include Mr. Ronald Bloom, who formerly has taught science at the school, Miss Susan Jones, with a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and Bachelor of Science in Social Studies Education from the University of Tulsa, Mr. Harvey McDaniel with a Bachelor's of Science and Master's of Teaching Arts from Northeastern State at Tahlequah, and Mr. Bob Smith, with a Bachelor of Science in Education from Tahlequah. Also included in the department, but whose pictures are shown in other areas, are Mr. Eddie Dyer and Mr. Robert Owen.

Mrs. Miller seems inclined to agree with her students on pertinent trends of U.S. History.

Stagecraft, Instructional Media Specialists

Randall Blair

Merle Jacobs

Hey, that tree looks a little crooked. Mrs. Garrett needs an operator third hour. Mrs. Daniels requested stagecraft and instructional media students find their services much in demand to serve the needs of a busy school. The stagecraft crew controls all technical aspects of plays, assemblies, or coronation festivities which deal with scene design, electricity, color, form and lighting. Students must build, paint, and learn to operate scenery combined experiences which instill a sense of drama and contribute to artistic and mechanical skills. Instructional media students show films, English and History lab sessions, operate film strips and generally assist Mr. Jacobs, who in turn aids teachers in special classroom presentations.

East Central's stagecraft and instructional media departments are manned by Mr. Randall Blair and Mr. Merle Jacobs. Mr. Blair teaches four classes of Stagecraft, as well as an American Literature class. He directs the settings and lighting for all plays and stage productions and directed the junior play, "I Remember Mama." Mr. Jacobs, a newcomer this year, is East Central's first instructional media specialist. He received a Bachelor of Arts in Education at Southeastern in Durham and a Master's of Education at the University of Oklahoma. While attending O.U., he served as graduate assistant in the Instructional Media Department, College of Education. He is recognized as being the first to receive certification for Instructional Media Specialist in Oklahoma.

Seeking a sense of backstage drama, the photographer posed Mr. Blair on a stagecraft ladder.

Mr. Jacobs, realizing that films are vital to enrichment of studies, spends a lot of time training teachers and student aids.

On the other hand, the results of the present study suggest that the use of a single, standardized, and validated questionnaire is a more reliable and valid method for assessing the prevalence of depression in the elderly population.

Service Groups Make School Living "Homey"

You've got two minutes, PTA prexy Virginia McManus tells the photographer just before she and Duane Selvey begin "Back to School" night.

Home cooking, shining rooms, help from Mom, and all of a sudden life around East Central takes on more aspects of home and comfort than what any average student might realize at first glance. Mrs. Mildred McNeill and her staff of cafeteria workers keep three lunch lines going daily from 11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Mr. Robert Sneed and the custodial staff keep the building clean and operating properly on a 24-hour basis. East Central's Quarterback Club and P.T.A. work tirelessly to help the school's students and professional staff function together efficiently and harmoniously. In the pictures left to right are the cafeteria staff, the custodial day staff, and highlights of the annual "Back to School" night, sponsored by the East Central P.T.A. in September.

Mrs. Kietzman, Mrs. Oglesby, and Mrs. Bear record P.T.A. memberships.

Journalism Literary Talents Back School Interests

Mrs. Janet Armstrong, sponsor, looks over copy that has been submitted

The literary talents of many students are combined to contribute to Tulsa School Life and produce the Cardinal Quill, East Central's own school paper. Meeting deadlines, covering news events, and writing interesting features are only a few of the things that keep journalism students busy. In addition to working for these papers, many students find time for outside journalism activities. Susan Boyd and Brenda Crawford write for Southeast News. Brenda also is East Central's Tulsa World youth correspondent. School Life is headed by David Cole, with Susan Boyd as Co-editor. Mrs. Jan Armstrong serves as advisor.

Cardinal Yearbook Achieves Honors In Competition

Members of this group are responsible for the 'Participation' section

Producing a yearbook that will best represent their school is the goal of the yearbook staff. To do this the staff is divided into four groups. Each group is responsible for producing a section that will meet the high standards of the rest of the book. Writing copy, headlines, cutlines, and putting pictures in their proper places are only a few of the things that are involved in making an award winning yearbook. The Cardinal staff under the direction of Mrs. Janet Armstrong, and editor and co-editor, Denese Miles and Cindy Dipboye work to serve the entire school. Staff photographers are Roger Stokes and G. K. Griffin.

Medical Club Explores Intricate Depths of Science

Future doctors, nurses, lab technicians, and medical assistants are among the variety of people who are members of East Central's medical club. The club, under the direction of Mrs. Myrtle Rollerson, is designed to promote interest in the line and its related fields. Members are planning to recruit guest speakers and take field trips to area hospitals. The official representative of the club is president Susan Cross. Vice president is Jim Busenbark, treasurer, Janet LeMoine, secretary, Cindy Dipbove, President elect, P. Gram and executive secretary, Andy Hendrickson. These officers plan club participation in related activities.

Trigonometry, Analytics, and Geometry play important parts in the make-up of Mu Alpha Theta. Sponsors Mrs. Daniels and Mr. Peck prepare club members for future involvement in the field of computation. Along with the serious side of Mu Alpha Theta is the enjoyment. The members work different types of math problems for the challenge involved, they play intricate games of chess, watch films explaining the purpose of computers, and make preparations for taking the National Math Test. Mu Alpha Theta members try to discover not only the educational uses of math but the uses of math in everyday life.

Camembert, Gyuere, and Munster are just a few of the cheeses introduced and tasted at the first meeting of 'Le Cercle Francais', under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Johnson. The purpose of the club is to further the students' knowledge of French culture and customs. They anticipate many exciting happenings, such as dining in a French restaurant, making a yulelog at Christmas and having a Christmas party. They also plan to start a learning center to be used by the French classes and club members. It will be made up of various projects done by the students themselves. They will contribute books, games and many other materials.

Singing is fun. Fun is singing. The Choral Department under the Direction of Mrs. Erbert, provides opportunities to develop students' musical abilities. The four choral classes are Concert Chorus, Advance Mixed Chorus, Mixed Chorus, and Girls' Glee Club. This year the Choral Parents and students worked together in a new, successful, fund-raising project. The project included selling citrus fruit. The profits enabled the Choral Department to buy a stereo-tape recorder and new music. The profits from the continuation for the fruit sales will help the Chorus to take various tours.

Unity and harmony are the ingredients for a successful program.

Marching Band Attains Place of Prominence

Band officers, Wally Hartman, Charles Thompson and Rick Lambrecht provide the leadership necessary in such a large organization.

We proudly present the East Central Marching Band rings the voice of band announcer, James Vance.

Displaying their skill in musical and marching precision, the Cardinal Marching Band prepared impressive half-time and pre-game shows at the East Central football games. The importance of the marching band is reflected in almost every aspect of school life at E.C. and their near perfect performances are to be commended by all. Enhancing the Cardinal Marching Band is drum major Larry Lees, because of his commanding nature, dependability, and willingness to accept the responsibility of leading the band. He is considered an asset to performances and his endeavors deserve much recognition. The band is under the direction of Mr. Dennis Kellher.

Majorettes in training are Jolene Foley, junior, Patty Ehlen, Cathy Lewis, and Sherry Rickner, sophomores. They begin practicing together in July for four hours a day. When school begins, their practices are cut down to two hours a day. Their routines consist of marching, dancing, twirling machetes, hoops, fire batons, and jumping fire ropes. The five girls are wearing new uniforms, of black velvet trimmed in red sequins and black ponchos trimmed in red, which Dianna Holder designed.

Leslie Pharr demonstrates school spirit as the Cardinal mascot.

Cardinals are the greatest might well describe the attitude of East Central's Pep Club. At E. C. football games, all athletic events, the players are often spurred on to victory by this enthusiastic club. Members sponsor the Howdy dance, meet to decorate the halls with signs, sell spirit ribbons to homerooms, preside at pep rallies, and help with the Quarterback Club drive. In short, they are responsible for keeping the pride of school. The only requirement for becoming a member of the club is a loud, enduring voice. Mrs. Pat Holder is again sponsor of the Pep Club.

Cheerleaders Inject Cards With Spirit

Cardinals are full of spirit this year, led by our eight enthusiastic cheerleaders. Last summer they went to the Oklahoma University to compete. They learned new cheers and chants to reach all the loyal Cards. In addition to learning cheers and chants, the cheerleaders make spirit signs for the field, and the pep assemblies and the B-squad. The captain of the team is Leslie Blevins and co-captain, Jan West. The other members are Marsha Harrel, Mindy West, Mary Beth Stewart, Cindy Lott, Debi Edington, and Debra Daniels. Leslie Pharr adds alot of pep to the spirit makers as she and her alternate Raymon Brown, portray the Cardinal Bird. Mrs. Pat Holder is the sponsor.

DECA Participates in State Leadership Conference

Mrs. Byrd, sponsor, and Jim Johnson find D.E.C.A. enjoyable and rewarding

DECA is an organization designed for applying principles taught in Distributive Education classes. Members better themselves in the business world by participating in marketing, merchandising, and management. The club assists with civic activities such as the March of Dimes, constructing a float for Tulsa's Christmas Parade, television appearances, and making radio announcements. The most important activity is the State Leadership Conference held in Oklahoma City during March, National DECA month. Winners from all over the state pool their talents to compete in the National DECA Leadership Conference which is held during April.

East Central isn't really being invaded by a group of mermaids. It just seems that way when the Catalinas present their annual show. East Central's synchronized swim club works long hard hours after school from September to April in preparing for their debut. Each member must develop skills which are both artistic and athletic. The show is composed of several numbers which represent the theme for this year, "The Games People Play." Experienced members must write and direct the various numbers. Swimmers are under the watchful eye of Mrs. Pat Holder, club sponsor. The show is presented April 1, 2, and 3.

FCA Launches Spiritual Revolution Across America

Athletes set aside gear of the playing field to examine a spiritual uniform in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. This organization, sponsored by Roger Letler and co-sponsor Rod Grouhell, is part of a spiritual revolution that is sweeping the sports world. Players freely express themselves about problems that confront them daily. Their sponsors actually work with an honest introspection of commitment. The East Central huddle group is the largest in the state. They are active in all forms of community work. Last summer East Central was represented by 30 athletes at the National Conference in Ft. Through the Junior Red Cross, students can experience the good feeling which comes with helping less fortunate ones. The first Red Cross meeting, held early in October, showed the enthusiasm of the fifty homeroom and alternate representatives. This said sponsor Mrs. Adams, "is a wonderful and exciting improvement." The club's goal this year is to offer opportunity for students to participate in activities which can develop useful skills, promote good mental and physical health, and train students to be good citizens. Officers this year are Mark Flach, Bill Hendricks, Cindy Lott and Karen Pope.

"What do you think of pollution?" That might be the subject matter of a discussion in a debate club meeting. The club is in its first year at E.C., under the direction of Mr. Wesley White. The club was designed to encourage members to become interested in current events and world issues. It is also a way of teaching the procedures of debating. The club's newly elected officers are: President Kevin Chambers, Vice-president Sam Ritchie, and Secretary-treasurer Jolene Foley. The members hope to be advanced enough in their debates to participate at the end of the year in debate tournaments with other high schools.

Artistic ability anyone? East Central's art club provides activities for students interested in the pursuit of artistic knowledge. Mrs. Nancy Louvier, sponsor, along with officers, Pam King, President, Susan Coker, Viceprexy; Jeanne Buthod, Secretary; Anna Alcorn, Treasurer, coordinate talents giving members suggestive guidance to help get club activities under way. This year's activities include trips to surrounding museums, attending Oklahoma City art shows, sketch trips in the fall and spring, and attending various cultural events in Tulsa. The club holds its annual art show in the spring.

Jeanne, Anna, Mrs. Louvier, Fred and Pam are shown silk screening.

Library Club Stimulates New Desires For Learning

Students appreciate the literary help offered by Mrs. Lloyd

All work and no play isn't good. The library provides a place to relax

The new library is fully equipped to assist students in their studies

When you think of the library club, do the studious intellectuals of the school come to mind? Many are, but everyone is encouraged to join. The club meets twice a month. This year the club's activities were more or less confined to the preparation of the new East Central library which the North Central committee evaluated. The library club also prepared a tea for the teachers in March. Other club activities include the managing of the bookstore. Profits are used to buy library furniture that is not covered by school funds. They also help Mrs. Lloyd, the sponsor, review new books.

Thespian Troop Brings Entertainment to E.C. Stage

Students interested in the fine arts express themselves through the Thespian Troop. This troop, which has been organized for one year, is very active at East Central. Many Thespian members participate in assemblies and the school plays. In addition many are active in outside Theater groups, such as the Sp-

Iulsa Little Theater. Members perform many jobs besides acting. They also work backstage on costume props, lighting effects and scenery. At the end of each year the entire troop votes on which Thespian member has performed outstandingly. Best actor

Pud Gee Mr Brink
you've got ghost's eyes

Mr Brink convinced the audience of his authenticity as a death angel.

Mr Brink "Man's logic is the most pitiful thing about him. It stands in his way, so that he can't quite see the giants." This was the theme that playwright Paul Osborn's lines echoed throughout the Senior Class production of "On Borrowed Time." The plot revolved around man's fear of death. When Brink comes to see Julian Northrup's soul to his afterlife, the death angel tricks the death angel and traps him in an apple tree.
His grandchild Pud, is seriously injured after falling off the fence which surrounds the property.
Northrup to allow the death angel to take them. Gramps
"Where are we going?" Brink "You'll find out."

Pud "Homework! Why can't I go outside and play Gramps?"

Demetria "I'll teach you to steal apples young man.
I know just what to do with a trespasser right."

"I Remember Mama" High-

Hyde: Tonight, I would like to finish 'The Tale From Two Cities'

Papa: "Christine, she is the stubborn one"

Dagmar: Elizabeth's a Viking cat. She fights for her husband.

Mama: "Yes, Uncle Chris I am right here beside you"

But first and foremost "I remember Mama" is the last line of this year's junior class play. That one line tells the action of "I Remember Mama," a two-act play written by Jon Van Druten. It's the account of a large Swedish family living in America, and their problems trying to adjust to their new environment. The story is told as seen through the eyes of the oldest daughter, Katrin, and involves, warmth, humor, and sadness. The sets for the play were very extensive and along with the costumes, added a large part to the effectiveness of the play. This year's play was under the directions of Mr. Randall Blair, stage craft director.

Mama: "Sure. We celebrate that Dagmar is well, and coming home"

New AAAA Conference

Coach Rod Goodbell advises Junior Wingback Mike Birks during one of the many crucial moments of the seasons gridiron battles of the 4A conference

The 1970 season found the Cardinals coming off their first winning season and also facing a new conference, and a new schedule. The Indian Nation Conference was to be the best and most powerful football conference in the state with such outstanding teams as Memorial, Rogers, Hale, Enid, and Ponca City.

Game Highlights

The Cards opened their season by winning their first all city contest in eleven tries against Webster. The first season game found the Cards against the Edison Eagles who handed East Central their first loss in six games. Next week, as the Cardinals found the winning road on the arm of Glenn Bedingfield and the legs of workhorse Terry Lunstord, the Scots lost, 21 to 6. Nathan Hale, who had over shadowed the Cards for 3 years, found themselves behind 14-7 as the clock ticked away. Soph Lex Devens score on a 40 yd run and Glenn Bedingfield's 50 yard pass to Mike Birks proved too much for the Hale Rangers. The 4th game of the season pitted the Cards against the defending three time State Champs, Washington F.C.'s defense outplayed them as Chris Hutchens, Mike Pregler, Eddie Adams, Rick Evans and Jim Elrod completely stopped the 40 point per game average of the Hornets and held them to 12 points. Once again the arm of Bedingfield found his favorite receiver, Mike Birks, on passes of 85 and 60 yards. The running of Dan Brumble, Jim Segroves, Terry Lunstord, behind the blocking of Jerry MacClean, Mark Romine, Forrest Heath, Randy Smith, Mark Polumbus, Jim Shelton, proved once again the Cardinals were the Greatest, 13-12. In the next few games the Cards bowed to Enid, Memorial, and Rogers. The last of the season against the Ponca Wildcats, the Cardinals won on the 171 yard performance of Devens, the firm passing of Bedingfield, and the receiving of Ronnie Spencer and Mike Birks, 19-12. This concluded the Cards second winning season in a row, 5-4, and a third place tie in the Indian Nation Conference. The Cardinals rolled up 2052 yards total offense and scored 115 points at an average of 5.15 yards per play.

The fighting Cardinal football team once again earned the much deserved honor of having seven of its senior members recognized as Indian Nation All Stars. The winners of this award completed the finest year of football for these seniors, which will always remind them of the hard-won battles they fought on the grid-iron. Guard Jim Shelton received E. C.'s only award for offensive players. Chris Hutchens, tackle, and Eddie Adams, halfback, received awards for defensive players. Receiving honorable mention were Randy Nicolas, Jerry MacLean, Rick Evans, and Jim Segroves. To honor certain outstanding players, at the end of each year, the football players themselves decide who has worked the hardest and played the best. Receiving the awards for the 1970 season are Lynn Lambert, most dedicated player, Eddie Adams, best offensive back, Chris Hutchens, best all around, Mike Pregler, best defensive lineman, and Jim Shelton, best offensive lineman of the conference year.

During his junior year he was on the class board and a representative in Student Council. Mike's future plans are to enter the University of Oklahoma at Norman to major in business or law administration.

December's Girl of the Month was Dawn Smith. She was a member of the Student Council and a member of the NIS. In her three years at East Central, she was active in the Student Council and the class play. In this past year, she was the Student Council member of the month. She was a member of the DAR Citizenship Award, attended the Business of Professional Women's Young Leadership Conference, and the Senior Selected as December's Boy of the Month was Mike Fink. He was active in the Student Council in his three years at East Central, being elected as its treasurer in his junior year. Mike was also a three year member of FCA and Junior Civitan. Being captain of the swimming team in his senior year, he was three year letterman. Mike's achievements include attending the Boys State Convention, and Student Council Workshop. He will attend OSU in Stillwater.

January

LeeAnn Beaver was honored as Girl of the Month for January. She was a member of the EC concert chorus and was an officer in the club as a senior. LeeAnn was a two year member of Spanish Club and NHS and a three year member of Pep Club. Her special achievements include being a member of the Principal's Honor Roll, attending the ORU Seminar and OSU Honor Awards Banquet, and taking part in Sing Out, a branch of Up With People.

January's Boy of the Month was Jimmy Johnson. As a senior, he held the offices of Senior Class Vice President, President of DECA, and NHS Vice-President. Jim served on the Junior Board and as a representative to Red Cross in his sophomore year. He was chosen as Friendliest Boy in his junior and senior years at East Central and was honored as being selected as the DECA Student of the Year during his sophomore year.

Chosen as the Girl of the Month for February was Cheryl Smith. As a senior, she was a representative of Sweetheart Trophy Case Chairman, and committee member for spirit week. Cheryl was a two year participant in Red Cross and was in Pep Club as a member. Her senior year she served as Secretary Treasurer of the Vocational Technical Center and was elected VICA Sweetheart. Cheryl is planning to attend either TIC or OI.

Robbie Dove was selected as February's Boy of the Month. He was a two year member of French Club and Key Club and was Treasurer of the Art Club his junior year. He was a three year member of the swimming team and served as captain his senior year. Robbie also participated on the tennis team three years. He was active on the senior prom committee and worked on Senior Follies. He is planning to attend Oklahoma State University.

Cooweesta Terry was selected Girl of the Month for March. During her senior year, she was an active participant in Medical Club and Pep Club. Cooweesta was a member of the National Honor Society in her junior and senior years and served as Treasurer of the German Club as a junior. She was on the yearbook staff for two years and was co-head of the sophomore classes section her senior year. Cooweesta's college plans are undecided.

Ashley Talton, Boy of the Month for March, served as President of Student Council and President of FCA. Other clubs he was a member of were French Club, Senior Board and AFS. Ashley was chosen Best Looking of his senior class and received a superior rating in the district vocal music contest his junior year. He was a member of the track team and was a three year letterman in that sport. He plans to attend IU and major in engineering.

The honor of being April's Girl of the Month went to Susan Cross. She held the offices of Medical Club President, Mu Alpha Theta Secretary, and NHS Parliamentarian. Susan was an active member of the French Club, AFS, Pep Club, Student Council, Mu Alpha Theta NHS, Medical Club, and Yearbook Staff. Her accomplishments include being President's Scholar at OSU, a National Merit Semifinalist and Best All Around Senior Girl.

John Dewberry was selected as April's Boy of the Month. He was a member of Student Council, Mu Alpha Theta, NHS, German Club, and chairman of the Election Committee in his senior year. John held the office of NHS President and was German Club Vice President for two years. He was in the Junior Play and on the Sophomore Board. Extracurricular activities include being on the Mercantile National Bank Junior Board.

Who Makes Hall of Fame?

A vote of confidence. That's how the 1971 "Hall of Famers" got elected from faculty members covering every area of school activities. Hall of Fame is an exclusive honor in that all a student has to be is very good in his field. This can mean how you tune up an engine or how you sing a solo or how you match a seam. Just ask Jim Allen or Jerry McGrew or Rita Montgomery. And Hall of Fame is also exclusive in that the membership may not total more than 10% of the graduating class - or 43 this year. Congratulations to the 1971 Hall of Famers. And even with this distinguished background, you've still got a lifetime to go.

Mrs. Jewell Hilderbrand, Teacher of a Lifetime

... And Gladly Teach ...

This excerpt from another master teacher seems to be written for Mrs. Jewell Hilderbrand, Head of the English Department, who will retire this spring after 41 years of teaching. One of these is "off the record" because she taught one full year without pay during the depression era. It is to this spirit of personal dedication that the yearbook staff makes its own dedication. Another who is leaving, Richard Kern, above, bestows the feeling of affection which Cardinal students hold for the lively lady of English, Home Economics, and Art classrooms. Her career began in 1929 at Lone Star school in Seminole County, then fortified with two lifetime teaching certificates, she taught through a series of rural schools in Oklahoma, leading to Lynn Lane in 1956 where she taught Music and Art. In 1963 she joined the staff of East Central and assumed the chairmanship of the English Department. So, goodbye for now, Mrs. Hilderbrand; we thank you for your inspiration and devotion; we wish you well in the future.
